

It's time for the union

at CU Coventry

WHY WE NEED A UNION

UCU members and other staff at CU Coventry tell us they need a union. They tell us about the workloads, the pressures on quality and the fact that they want an independent voice to speak up for them.

CU Coventry refuses to recognise UCU to negotiate for you, which means that your employer can set your pay, change your contracts and pretty much shape your working life without having to listen to you.

Unions are your collective voice, giving you the power to raise issues without fear. If UCU were recognised, then you would have a collective voice who your management would have to negotiate with. That's real power.

LUNCH ON THE UNION! 17 NOVEMBER, 1-2PM

WM307 (William Morris Building, Third Floor)

Come and have lunch with the union at our November social event. We'll provide the food and introduce you to people who have won recognition in the Coventry University Group and elsewhere. Hear about what having a union has done for them and can do for you.

HOW DO WE GET A UNION?

The first step is to show your support. It is within your grasp. You have a legal right to a union if we can show that a majority of staff want one.

That's exactly what your colleagues at CU Services Ltd did recently and we've just won recognition for your colleagues at ONCAMPUS Coventry too. We can do it here!

JOIN THE UNION

Take another step and join the union - it's cheap but invaluable.

It can cost as little as £1 a month, depending on your income and what you pay is tax deductible, meaning you get a lot of it back.

Not only that, but payments can be paused while you are between contracts.

We're the largest union in higher education. Our trained network of reps across the country are ready to respond to change and support you.

We stand for quality teaching and learning and quality pay and conditions.
